

EDU 7901 – Advanced Research Design
Professor Roxanne Mitchell

In this course we learned how to read and critique scholarly works. Professor Mitchell spent a great deal of time familiarizing us with the components of a proposal and exactly how to write it. We covered peer reviewed articles and how to use the tools available to us by the internet to access them. The class went a long way in demystifying the process and leaving us comfortable with our ability to perform it.

For our project, we had to write a mini dissertation. Professor Mitchell's feedback helped crystallize the dissertation expectations. With this help, we are now ready to go forward and achieve.